

THE past week has been filled with Christmas festivities of a home-like kind, and aside from the big tea on the afternoon of the day itself, there was nothing of a special social order. The dinners were nearly all of the quiet kind, many of the fortunate people who have homes taking to the air there is a prospect of a great deal more gaiety than has been evident in the city for many months. The coming week offers more attractions in every way than any of those preceding since the early summer. Doubtless with the reopening of many of the most elegant homes in the city there will be a genuine return of the wonted social activity.

The first cards for the Assemblies were issued during the week. The pains to make the occasion an event way and the committee is sparing no pains to make the first dance an event of importance. The plan of having the girls' individual members is taking well, and although an invitation to the Salt Lake is decidedly in favor of the maidens.

A great number of the leading homes of the city will be thrown open on New Year's day, and a good many of the younger matrons are planning quite elaborate at home.

Mrs. W. H. Cunningham will give a series of luncheons the latter part of the week in honor of Mrs. James C. Dick, who will return shortly from her wedding trip.
